

Global Health Through Literature: An Educator Workshop

WORKSHOP AGENDA

8:30-9:00 a.m. Early Bird Meet-and-Greet

Arrive early to learn about Global and Area Studies events and resources at the University of Kansas and enjoy refreshments, a continental breakfast, and the opportunity to socialize with colleagues from around the region.

9:00-9:10 a.m. Welcome + Introductions + Overview facilitated by Dr. Megan Luttrell

9:10-9:20 a.m. Self-reflection Exercise

What are you doing to internationalize your classroom and why is it important to do so?

9:20-10:20 a.m. Keynote speaker and discussion Dr. Araceli Masterson Algar (American Studies) will speak on the importance of internationalizing your classroom and lead a discussion on the topic.

10:20-10:30 a.m. Break

10:30-11:15 a.m. Aumas Long Run* facilitated by the Kansas African Studies Center (KASC) with Samuel Dermas Habtemariam

11:15 a.m.-12:00 p.m. Home Home* facilitated by the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies (CLACS) with Dr. Araceli Masterson Algar

12:00-1:00 p.m. Lunch, provided by KU Area Studies Centers

1:00-1:45 p.m. Five Stalks of Grain* facilitated by the Center for Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies (CREES) with Dr. Megan Luttrell

1:45-2:30 p.m. The Minamata Story: An Eco-Tragedy* facilitated by the Center for East Asian Studies (CEAS) with Mego Londeen and Amy Quirin

2:30-2:45 Break

2:45-4:00p.m. Lesson Plan Discussion in Small Groups facilitated by Amy Quirin (CEAS Education & Evaluation Assistant) + Closing Remarks + Post-Workshop Survey + Group Photo

How could you fit these lessons into your curriculum? How can you expand on what we've presented to fit other types of classes and/or grad levels? How could we teach these books across the curriculum?